Ohio Officials Hope To Provide Space For 2,000 Inmates

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)-A 24 1/2-million-dollar building and improvements program that, among other things, will provide space for 2,000 prisoners was unveiled today by the State Division of

Most of the planning was done by Koblentz who originally requested a 15-million-dollar medical center to serve all Ohio penal institutions. This proposal led to the conferences and the medical center proposal was changed.

The plan now calls for the Division of Mental Hygiene to transfer to the Division of Correction the Lima State Hospital for the Criminally Insane. Many inmates there have been transferred from pris-

The institution now will officially become a psychiatric enter for prisoners.

And the division will try to build another medium security prison, instead of the medical center Koblentz originally wanted. That institution, about the same as one now being built near Lebanon for 12 million dollars, will cost from 12 to 15 million.

Koblentz said since plans will be similar to those at Lebanon it can be built in about two years. It took about one year to develop the plans for the Lebanon prison which will house about 1,500 in-

The image is the image. The image is the ima Lima institution comes under his control, he will be able to send there up to 500 prisoners who need psychistric help.

Top priority in the construction program calls for spending $4,-171,000 to finish the Lebanon institution by 1960 or 1961.

Other major construction projects call for spending $600,000 for two new buildings at Marysville Reformatory for Women, one a $250,000 school and activities

The progran also includes improvements at other institutions. Lima State Hospital has more than 1,400 inmates. About 600 came from penal institutions. Another 250 are regular mental patients who would be transferred Airlines subsidiary, which won the to mental hospitals now being built. The rest were sent to Lima by judges for observation or in-

Little Rock Board's Bid ls Dismissed

Federal Jurist Rules Only Tribunal Can Hand Down Decision

FORT SMITH, Ark. (AP)-U.S. Dist. Judge John E. Miller declined today to advise the Little Rock School Board whether it could legally lease 4 high school buildings for use as private, segregated schools.

Judge Miller said his court did not have legal authority to issue such advice.

The school board attorney, Richard Butler, said immediately after the judge's ruling that the board has "no immediate plans." Judge Miller said the question involved the constitutionality of recently passed Arkansas anti-integration laws and could be passed on only by a three-judge federal court. The school board, under pressure from Gov. Orval E. Faubus to lease the high school buildings for his private school plan, had asked the judge for advice as to its legality. Both the federal government and the National Assn. for the Advancement of Colored People intervened to request that the judge tell the board it could not lease its buildings or if it could they must include Negro students. Miller denied and dismissed the companion petitions of the NAACP and the Justice Department. Both had asked him to instruct the board that it could not follow the Faubus private school plan.

All petitions were dismissed without prejudice so that all parties could seek relief in another court - presumably asking for a three-judge hearing on the mat-

On the other hand, Rogers said that if the court ruled the schools could be leased, the court should instruct the board the lease "must be on terms which will explicitly require the operator to permit the Negro students eligible under the school board's plan to attend Central High School."

The government memorandum stated that "the interest of the United States of America as amicus curiae (friend of the court) in this proceeding is its responsibility that the orders of United States courts be complied with." The board is under federal court orders to integrate.

Elders Can Be Assets

European visitors have frequently commented on the unwillingness of Americans of any age, as long as they are able to stay out of a wheel chair, to admit that they are old. This national unwillingness to face the facts of elderly life may have something to do with the national failure to cope with the problems of old age in a changing society in which the old-fashioned threegeneration household is out of fashion and probably impracticable to boot.

But the facts are there. Within seven years, one American out of 10 will be 65 or over, a condition that has never existed in any nation's history. If people that age age aren't "old," it is undeniable that they are slowing down. It would be cruel to sentence them to the rocking chair or to institutionalize them in the typical old folk's home.

It would be no less cruel, and unfair to a younger generation as well, for them to be forced to eke out their days as barely tolerated "poor relations" in a home which is not theirs.

But this problem is not entirely, or even mainly, one of living quarters. People regarded as savages or barbarians often have solved this problem better than has civilized man. Older members of the tribe do as much work as their strength warrants, and enjoy being a part of life. As wrinkles waffle their faces, they are looked up to more and more, and called upon regularly for advice and counsel.

By not isolating them, the tribe gains. Their knowledge, experience and wisdom are not absolute, but they can be too useful to be ignored. Even their capacity for hard labor, though reduced, is at once a contribution to society and a factor in maintaining the physical and mental health of the oldsters.

"Backward" peoples often drift into such sensible arrangements because their total way of life makes it natural. In our more complex and less natural society, the older person and society tend to lose contact, to the detriment of both.

Older people, with few exceptions, can be assets to society instead of liabilities. And nothing could contribute more to their happiness in old age than to be useful and

Shall U.S. Be Pushed Around? By George Sokolsky

Shall men die for barren islands?

This is the question that is being asked these days, for we live in a practical era when men do not wish to die for an imponderable. If they are to die, they say, let it be for something practical. But they prefer not to die at all.

The question is, what is practical? And, if we analyze too much, is there anything that is worth dying for? God? Country? Home? An idea? A belief? To avenge a wrong To spurn an insult?

In fact, does it make sense to grow poor defending one's native land, when one can grow rich and even fat by trading with the enemy or by manipulating a flight of capital? Or by profiteering on other men's stupidi-

These are no longer abstract questions, for they are symbols of what our government has to deal with every day. One week, it is Lebanon; another, Jordan; another Iraq or Iran, or Kashmir or Guatemala; still another it is Quemoy and Matsu.

This nation existed from 1789 to 1941 without assuming world leadership. The very men and women who criticized the "isolationists" for narrowness and smallness of vision and heart are now criticizing our government for being faced with the consequences of the assumption of world leadership.

What did they expect to happen? Did anyone really believe in 1945 that when the United Nations came into being the Bear would lie down with Uncle Sam and the world would know the peace of Noah's Ark? Shall one go back into his morgue of clippings and speeches and recite the words of the great and the near- great and the publicity hunters who clamored for world leadership and demanded that our nation assume these enormous responsibilities?

There is a very large collection of these words of wisdom, and of the very small number who said, nay to all of it, who could foresee the cost that would have to be paid. They were ridiculed as isolationists and some were even called "one hundred per cent Americans," which in those days was a title of opprobrium. To be popular, one had to be an internationalist and believe in world leadership.

Well, now the accounts are in and we shall have to pay. Of course, Quemoy can be given to Red China even as a pretty virgin was sacrificed to Baal. What does an island matter? Said a wise man: "It is like fighting over Sandy Hook!"

was even more ferocious. The truth is that everybody has sons or brothers, cousins or sweethearts who die in wars and wars do not seem to accomplish what they set out to do, but neither does cowardice. Czechoslovakia tried cowardice and Jan Masaryk committed suicide or was hurled from a window and today his countrymen live in abject slavery. It can happen to West Germany as it has happened to East Germany. It can happen to France as it three times has happened to France in our times. Cowardice can produce nothing but defeat and in defeat there is nothing but slavery and death.

SOUTHERN LADY staged a house party at her plantation, A in the course of which she took all the guests on a fox hunt. The ladies had returnd to the manor house, and were enjoying their drinks, stretched out on divans in the drawing room, when a maid interrupted them. "Pardon me, ladies," she said respectfully, "but have you any dirty habits?"

Until the guests realized the maid had been sent from the laundry, there was a bit of strain evident in the room!

Composer Dick Rodgers once considered starring Milton Berle in a TV original, and asked the comedian what the tab would come to. "Dick, I'm so flattered that you want me," Berle assured him earnestly, "that money will be the very last thing I think of—before I go to sleep tonight."

A propaganda debate could be a springboard for another of Khrushchev's famous and ferocious letter-writing campaigns to frighten other governments and populations.

When Eisenhower rejected Khrushchev's letter out of hand, Red policy was in an awkward position. It had blustered and threatened. The threats and bluster had been dismissed as boorishness.

What could the Communists do next? They could hardly try again in a softer voice and admit the error of the previous approach. They would hardly want the outside world to think their bluff had Possibly the least that had been expected of Khrushchev's letter been called. But they could scarcely resort to deeds instead of words. The Red Chinese cannot afford a major war and the Soviets have shown no enthusiasm for the prospect. Perhaps the big noise is designed to cover up a temporary confusion.

NEXT? - It isn't known yet if anyone will be named to succeed Sherman Adams as President Eisenhower's number one assistant. There have been some reports in Washington that Ike may spread Adams' work among several persons. However, if a successor to the $22,500 job is decided on, one of these three men probably would be the choice: Dillon Anderson, former assistant to the President for national security affairs: Maj. Gen. Wilton B. Persons, now Adams' deputy; Interior Secretary Fred A. Seaton.

Bowdry in Hospital After Ring Defeat

CHICAGO (AP) - Jesse Bowdry of St. Louis, seventh ranking light heavyweight, was so emotionally upset after losing to Sonny Ray in Chicago Stadium Wednesday night he had to be hospitalized.

The 20-year-old fighter, stopped at 1:22 of the ninth round by the 3-1 underdog Ray, was incoherent afterwards in his dressing room, which was barred to newsmen. His rantings could be heard through the closed door and Dr. Irving Slott, chief examining physician of the Illinois Athletic Commission, worked over him for more than 20 minutes. Later he was taken to Columbus Hospital.

Ashville's grid Broncos open Darby Valley League play Friday casions. night with a trip to Mt. Sterling.

Fresh from a 14-0 decision over make it two in a row. They dropped their opener to Berne Union, Coach Gregg said his squad looked much improved in the Piketon test, especially on offense. The Broncos moved the ball well on the ground and in the air, sparked by the running of halfback Phil Roese and fullback Frank Gloyd and the passing of quarterback Bill Hollenback.

The Bronco defense, led by end Bob Hoover and tackle Howard Newton, turned in a commendable job by allowing Piketon only seven first downs.

The Bronco starting lineup probably will remain about the same as last week. Getting the nod then were Hoover and Dale Fout, ends; Newton and Bob Peters, tackles; Steve Stover and Bill Haddox, guards; Bob Featheringham; center; Hollenback, quarterback; Roese and Clarence Bandy, halfbacks; and Gloyd, fullback.
